

LET US SEE HOW IT IS.

One of the grave complaints made by the son of John Taylor, in the interview reported from Philadelphia, is that a journal in Salt Lake had charged that the masses of the Mormons were ignorant people. The statement is only partially true. Doubtless Taylor meant the Tribune. The extent of the offense is that this journal has made the charge often that the great mass of the Mormon people is composed of ignorant foreigners and their children. Will young Taylor dispute this proposition? He certainly cannot. His own father, the President of the church, is far from being an ignorant man, but he is an infinite distance from the place of a finished scholar. And when it comes to that, there has never been any thing like a finished scholar attached to the Mormon church. Not one. Orson Pratt was probably the most cultivated man who ever belonged to the church, but when his scholarship is analyzed it will not bear the test in any particular.

Not only have the Mormons been conspicuously (not to say ridiculously) lacking in men of education and culture, but in their own chosen specialty of theology, they have been outrageously crude and indecent. From men claiming to be in daily communication with God, and therefore supposedly on the highest and most refined plane of thought, never came there so complete and disgusting a mass of cruel and wrong-headed rubbish. All their conceptions in this field have been about of an order of ideality that might have been expected from the vicious and conscienceless savages of Ashantee or Dahomey grafted on the robust blasphemy of Wabash flatboatmen. Their idea of the Deity is grossly vulgar and sensual. Their notion of spirits is wholly salacious, and their main theory on that subject is calculated solely to spur men on to greater efforts in procreation. Their astronomical-theological theory of heaven (Kolob) is a degree more depraved than was ever dreamt of in Mohammed's vagaries. Their formula of "quorums of Gods" is a polytheism more absurd and recklessly unmeaning and blasphemous than any other form of paganism that ever prevailed among men. Their persistent and fiendishly ingenious theories, formulated for the sole purpose of exacting men and degrading women, have no parallel even among the lowest and most depraved savages; for these have never held any theory more cruel for their mothers, wives and daughters than total annihilation; whereas the Mormon creed consigns them to everlasting future torment unless "in the flesh" they become mere slaves to lechery and brutal bedevilment of all kinds that may please any conscienceless scoundrel who has them in his toils. makes even the prize to be had by a slavish submission to all this in this world a thinly veiled prolongation of similar services to all eternity—a miserable, hopeless existence here and hereafter, to which non-existence were a boon, and annihilation a blessed privilege. By its farcical "baptism for the dead," also, the Mormon system, befools the brightest and best of all the ages, in presumptuously claiming that the great dead may be added to the families and made to figure in the train of any common blackguard, dolt or spiritless rascal who may conceive the "happy thought" of "going through water" for them. But why specify? It is all of a piece, and all utterly scandalous, stupid and contemptible.

There is but one place where the Apaches should be colonized and that is a bone yard. If the Arizona brethren of the paste pot and Faber are in on that racket, we put up our little assistance. A live Apache, like an old gun, is dangerous without lock, stock or barrel. He should be planted carefully at good depth, early in the spring.
